Question #4: Identify the total amount of hazardous waste accumulated at the facility in the month of June 2013.

Answer to Question #4: 58,078 pounds of hazardous waste was accumulated at the facility during the month of June 2013. Voln

Question #5: For both the June 20, 2013 and June 22, 2013 fires involving groundwater filters identified in a letter report from the facility to EPA, dated July 3, 2013, provide a description of what steps the Respondent took to comply with 40 C.F.R. § 265.31

Answer to Question #5: Prior to and since the above dates, FHR has had a written Emergency Response Plan in place and conducts training on emergency response requirements and procedures. FHR has a volunteer Emergency Response Team that participates in monthly training and yearly live fire training. FHR maintains emergency response equipment onsite which is readily available during an incident. During this incident, emergency response procedures were followed and the local fire department was notified and responded. The Emergency Coordinator was contacted as well as the FHR emergency response team. See additional information on steps taken in the response to Question #8 and the waste management information in the response to Question #6.

Question #6: Describe the planned management and disposition of the groundwater filters involved in the June 20, 2013 and June 22, 2013 fires.

Answer to Question #6:

For this incident there was some remaining filter material that had not been burned. The remaining filter material was placed in 55-gallon drums. Ten gallons of water was added to each drum and the sealed drums were shipped under EPA codes D001 (ignitability) and D003 (reactive) to the Burlington Environmental Facility in Kent Washington (EPA ID #WAD9914281767). From there the drums were sent to Ross Incineration in Grafton, Ohio (EPA ID #OHD048415665) for final disposal via incineration.

Question #7: Identify any and all hazardous waste determinations made in accordance with 40 C.F.R. 262.11 for groundwater filters containing iron sulfides and indicate when those determinations were made. Provide records of any test results, waste analyses or other determinations for groundwater filters containing iron sulfides made in accordance with 40 C.F.R. 262.11.

Answer to Question #7:

The pre-filters are the first step of the groundwater remediation system. Their purpose is to filter particulates and help protect downstream equipment from premature fouling.

In 2010, the groundwater pre-filters were sampled for TCLP Metals and Benzene and characterized as non-hazardous. There was no generator knowledge at that time of any concerns with iron sulfide scale buildup on the filters. See Attachment #1 for the waste determination and analytical data report.

Some information in this paragraph was based on conversations with Frank Young and Corey Huenefeld: In 2011 there was a fire related to the filters. A contract worker noticed that the filters had caught on fire and called an operator who immediately put the fire out. These filters were located on a concrete containment area. Based on this location and the number of filters that were involved, no external emergency response teams were mobilized. As part of the response actions, the burned material was scooped up and placed into two drums, then the drums were filled with water to protect against potential reactivity concerns. The material was subsequently removed from the drums, placed into a roll-off and disposed of as non-hazardous waste. A review of the filters indicated two different scenarios during which filters are generated. In the first scenario, the filters do not contain a large amount of scale or sand at the point of generation. These are the filters that are generated during routine operations and maintenance of the groundwater system. In the second scenario (the filters that caught on fire), the filters had an increased amount of scale and sand at the point of generation. These filters were generated during the activation of new remediation wells and it was learned that those wells potentially could contribute to an increased amount of scale buildup on the filters which, in turn, may contain iron sulfides. Based on this new generator knowledge, an internal memo (Attachment #2) was issued on October 14, 2011 stating that the filters were to be sampled only if a buildup of scale was seen when the filters were generated. Since implementing the procedures detailed in the memo, the waste filters have been managed as a nonhazardous waste and no fires occurred up until the June 2013 incidents.

On June 18, 2013, the groundwater pre-filters were sampled for TCLP Metals and Benzene and characterized as non-hazardous. See Attachment #3 for the analytical data report. A review of filters generated after June 22, 2013 indicated that no scale was present on the filter material; however an iron paste was observed.

Since the June incident, all filters are conservatively being managed as a hazardous waste with the D001 and D003 waste codes. The filters are placed in 55-gallon drums and ten gallons of water is added to each drum to ensure a moist environment is maintained inside the closed container. The labeled drum is sealed and stored in the 90-day accumulation area. The drums are sent to the Burlington Environmental Kent Washington Facility (EPA ID #WAD99114281767) and then to Ross Incineration in Grafton, Ohio (EPA ID #OHD048415665) for final incineration.

Question #8: Please further describe how the roll off container and the groundwater filters in the container were being managed at the time of each of the two fires, that is for each fire:

- a. Where was the roll off container located?
- b. Was the roll off container covered? If so, in what manner was it covered?
- c. When were the filters contaminated with iron sulfides first put into the roll off container?
- d. Was the roll off container labeled as hazardous waste and dated with an accumulation start date in accordance with 40 C.F.R. § 262.34(a)(2) and (3)?
- e. How were the fires discovered?

Answer to Question #8:

Fire on June 20, 2013

- a. Where was the roll off container located?
FHR's North Pole Refinery located at 1100 H&H Lane, North Pole, AK 99705. Approximately 50 feet north of the hazardous waste 90-day storage area.
- b. Was the roll off container covered?
No.
- c. When were the filters contaminated with iron sulfides first put into the roll off container?
June 19, 2013.
- d. Was the roll off container labeled as hazardous waste and dated with an accumulation start date in accordance with 40 C.F.R. § 262.34(a)(2) and (3)?
No. These filters were not characterized as hazardous at the time they were put into the roll-off. See response to Question #7.
- e. How were the fires discovered?
A terminal operator at FHR noticed smoke coming from the roll-off.

Fire on June 22, 2013 – This was a re-ignition of the same batch of filters that ignited on June 20.

- a. Where was the roll off container located?
FHR's North Pole Refinery located at 1100 H&H Lane, North Pole, AK 99705. Approximately 50 feet north of the hazardous waste 90-day storage area.
- b. Was the roll off container covered?
No; however, the roll-off was already in an isolated location. Two adjacent roll-offs were moved away from the area. The area was barricaded with danger tape and boom was placed around the area.

c. When were the filters contaminated with iron sulfides first put into the roll off container?

June 19, 2013. These were the same batch of filters that ignited on June 20. During the development of a clean-up plan, re-ignition occurred in the same roll-off as the June 20 incident.

d. Was the roll off container labeled as hazardous waste and dated with an accumulation start date in accordance with 40 C.F.R.§ 262.34(a)(2) and (3)?

No. These filters were not characterized as hazardous at the time they were put into the roll-off. A clean-up plan was being developed to determine how to containerize and dispose of the filters when they re-ignited.

e. How were the fires discovered?

A terminal operator at FHR noticed smoke coming from the roll-off.

Question #9: Provide a list of employees that were engaged in the management of the groundwater filters that caught fire on June 20 and June 22, 2013, including those employees involved in the response to the fires and those employees whose activities resulted in the material being placed in the roll off container. Describe the nature and extent of each person's involvement in the management of the groundwater filters both before and after the fires.

Answer to Question #9:

- 1) Serena Lewellyn – Responsible for the waste characterization of the filters before and after the fires.
- 2) Frank Young – Involved in the daily management of the filters as well as the placement of the filters into the dumpster. Frank is also on the FHR Emergency Response Team and responded to both fires.
- 3) Scott Peterson – Terminal Operator who saw the smoke in the dumpster
- 4) Sean George – Terminal Operator who also witnessed smoke in the dumpster
- 5) Gene Bell – FHR Emergency Response Coordinator involved in the response to the fires
- 6) Ben Wilker – FHR Emergency Responder to June 22 fire
- 7) Corey Huenefeld – FHR Emergency Responder to June 22 fire
- 8) Buddy Wenzel - FHR Emergency Responder to June 22 fire
- 9) Marisa Sharrah – Member of the FHR Incident Management Team. She represents the Public Affairs Section. She did not have any active participation.

Question #10: For each of the employees listed in the answer to question 9, provide all training records and documents specified in 40 C.F.R.265.16(d)

Answer to Question #10: Please see Attachment #4 for the RCRA Job Descriptions and Attachment #5 for the associated training for all employees listed in the response to Question #9.

RE: Information Request #7

ENVIRONMENTALDATE: October 14, 2011TO: Frank Youngcc: Loren GarnerFROM: Serena LewellynSUBJECT: SAMPLING OF GROUNDWATER PRE-FILTERS

On 7/14/11 there was an incident where the spent groundwater pre-filters were found to be on fire. An action item coming out of the investigation was to determine a pyrophoric sampling methodology for these filters. See below for the requirements and details.

History:

The sample solids from the pre-filter were visually examined by Barr Engineering. The samples were not submitted for analysis. Based on visual examination of this sample, as well as some of the water quality data for the groundwater from the recovery wells, they believed the pyrophoric substance was most likely iron sulfide. The increased recovery of the system likely drew highly reduced water with iron and sulfides into the water mixture. The iron sulfides likely precipitated upon mixing of waters from various recovery wells and were retained on the pre-filter. Recirculation of the carbon fines into the pre-filter may have provided more surface area for iron sulfide precipitation, and may have also increased the amount of petroleum compounds retained by the pre-filter as well, increasing its combustibility.

Since this incident, we have not seen a buildup of scale in the filters. Based upon the above information and discussion with the Barr consultant, an aggressive sampling plan is not felt to be necessary.

The plan forward will be to perform sampling of the groundwater filters only if a buildup of scale is seen upon change out. In this event follow the guidelines below:

- 1) Pull samples of the scale material and send them to SGS for analysis.
- 2) The chain of custody should contain the following:
 - a. Section 3 (Analysis Required) First Line – Iron Sulfides
 - b. Section 3 (Analysis Required) Second Line – Pyrophoric
 - c. In section 4 under special instructions add the comments: WARNING, sample may be pyrophoric and spontaneously combust during testing.
- 3) Containerize filters in an 85 gallon drum and ensure that they are kept wet until the sample results are received indicating whether the material is pyrophoric.
- 4) Follow normal waste handling for either hazardous waste or non-hazardous waste based on the results of the sampling.

 Pre-filters will still be sampled periodically for waste characterization even if scale is not seen.*
